Huntington Reserve Resident Selection Criteria

General Information:

This document is available to every Applicant. Applicants are required to read it in its entirety either at the Management Office or elsewhere prior to submitting an application.

Huntington Reserve conducts business in accordance with Federal Fair Housing Law, Section 504, and any other applicable Federal, State and Local laws or ordinances. We do not discriminate against any person because of race, color, religion, sex, handicap, familial status or national origin. Reasonable accommodations will be made for persons with an obvious or properly documented handicap as long as said accommodations do not present an undue administrative or financial burden to the management or ownership or cause an undue hardship on any other residents.

Huntington Reserve is governed by the requirements of the LIHTC program, administered by Florida Housing Finance Corporation pursuant to Section 42 of the Internal Revenue Code. As such, Residents are subject to all the requirements of these programs and must cooperate with management to certify their eligibility for initial occupancy and for subsequent annual recertification.

Management will conduct an informal interview with a potential applicant(s) prior to accepting an application and the associated fee. The purpose of this interview is to determine if basic requirements of the aforementioned programs can be met, thereby saving the applicant from losing the Non-refundable Application Fee. The interview will include questions relating to, but not limited to, verifiable annual income, number of persons to occupy apartment, criminal and credit history, citizenship or legal status. Applications must be received and returned to the rental office during normal business hours. A "Non-refundable Application Fee" in the form of a money order must accompany all applications submitted for approval. Approval of applications is subject to a third party verification of all requirements as set forth in this document.

Residents will not be allowed to transfer from their designated apartment unit to another. Exceptions can be made to allow for a reasonable accommodation that is documented and verified for cases such as increased family size above the maximum allowable or physical impairment such as a wheelchair. If a transfer is approved, the Resident must recertify and meet all eligibility requirements for the new unit.

Live-in Aides:

A live-in Aide is defined as a person who lives with an elderly, disabled, or handicapped individual(s) and is essential to that individual(s) care and well being not obligated for the individual(s) financial support and would not be living in the unit except to provide said care. Applicant must provide verifiable proof of need of the Live-in Aide in the form of a letter from a licensed Physician. A Live-in Aide qualifies for occupancy only in accordance with the preceding definition. The Live-in Aide does not qualify for continued occupancy as a remaining household member. The Live-in Aide is counted as a household member for purposes of determining bedroom size only. Applicant and Live-in Aide must sign an agreement to terminate residency of Live-in Aide within fifteen (15) days of the end of the need for such care for any reason.

Additional Information:

Applicants will be asked to participate in an initial interview prior to completing an application. The purpose of this interview is to determine if the basic requirements of Residency can be met. This process will benefit the applicant by saving them the cost of the Non-refundable Application Fee by determining in advance if they may qualify. If an applicant insists on filing an application without an initial interview, they must be allowed to do so.

Management reserves the right to make exceptions to the Resident Selection Criteria if such exceptions are determined by Management to be in the best interests of the Applicant AND the Property Owners.
